

Raw to finish

i load into bridge open in camera raw
i correct exposure a tiny bit
then i bump/or drop down color luminance as well as saturation
I think I may have overdone the grass but the seniors want bright poppy colors then open in CS3 and do skin edits.
this isn't sharpened or saved for web or anything.

naomi harrison
photography

1024x681 128kb JPEG

1024x681 176kb JPEG

Copyright 2008 Michelle Turner Photography

So here is a great reason to shoot RAW. This was my first day w the D300, I was trying to learn my controls while DH and DS were playing in the yard. I was trying to underexpose to get the blue sky, as evidenced by the SOOC, I went WAY underexposed on accident. Obviously couldn't recreate the moment, so I figured I'd see what RAW could do 😊

This was the very 1st shot of the day and as you can see from the top sooc image i forgot to change my settings LOL i WAS going to discard the image but I figure since I shot RAW i could at least see if i could save it